

March 2023

Your Voice Matters.

The 2023 Texas legislative session is underway and now is the chance for you to help shape the laws that affect our profession. From now until the session ends in late May, Legislators will consider many bills that may affect dentistry.

All of the powers given to the Texas State Board of Dental Examiners and the rules that the agency develops are derived from state law. While legislators may call on TSBDE staff or board members to act as resource witnesses, we remain neutral on legislation.

However, there is an opportunity for dental professionals, like you, to share your expertise and perspective on issues that are being debated. Democracy works. Rather than being a bystander, there is an opportunity for you to help influence the trajectory of your profession and your ability to care for your patients.

Once legislation becomes law, TSBDE begins its work developing rules to implement it. For example, in 2021 the legislature passed HB 2056, which authorized teledentistry in Texas. With input from the public, agency staff and committees then began to develop Rule §108.16 and other rules that are consistent with the bill, which allow teledentistry while upholding the same standard of care as provided in-person.

The TSBDE cannot interpret or create its own rules that are not in statute. In fact, the Dental Practice Act, which defines the scope of practice of dental health care providers, cannot be amended by the board without legislative action, which is why the board works carefully with the legislature to define the scope of dentistry in Texas.

There are thousands of bills that are filed during each legislative session, some that will affect the practice of dentistry and some that will affect you as a citizen of Texas. You have a voice! You can personally meet with your state representative or senator or help support groups within organized dentistry. Whether you are a dentist, hygienist, or dental assistant, you have the ability to share your concerns and help legislators make informed decisions.

Collective action is often more powerful than individual efforts, so talk to your lawmakers, your professional associations, your colleagues, and your friends. I can not understate the importance of your participation as laws are being written, as a citizen of Texas and a dental professional!

In Service,

David H. Yu, DDS, MS

Presiding Officer of the Texas State Board of Dental Examiners

LICENSING CERTIFICATES

TSBDE no longer issues separate certificates of registration for the following dental acts:

- Coronal Polishing,
- Pit and Fissure Sealant, and
- Nitrous Oxide Monitoring

The dentist is responsible for all dental acts delegated to a registered dental hygienist and registered dental assistant. This includes ensuring the hygienist and dental assistant both have an active license or registration with the TSBDE.

- Dental assistants taking patient x-rays must hold a current registration from the TSBDE.
- Dental hygienists and Registered Dental Assistants monitoring nitrous oxide must be registered with TSBDE.
- An application process is required in order for the specific N2O monitoring designation to be listed on the hygiene or registered dental assistant registration renewal certificate.
- Dentists cannot delegate coronal polishing or pit & fissure sealants to dental assistants unless the dental assistant completed the required education and training prior to the delegation. Dentists are responsible for verifying that the dental assistant has at least 2 years' experience, current basic life support, and completed the required 8 hours didactic and clinical education in coronal polishing and/or pit and fissure sealants prior to delegating those procedures.

Spoofed Emails / Recent Phishing Attempts

Cybercriminals have attempted to send spoofed (impersonated) emails — appearing to be from the TSBDE office. Our office, like other companies and government agencies, has unfortunately been the subject of a number of recent email fraud attacks, including:

Spoofed emails claiming to be from our office but using a domain not associated with the agency, urging recipients to click on a “secure message” but the attachment is malicious, intended to steal usernames and passwords. Emails should come from someone with our domain: jsmith@tsbde.texas.gov.

Recent Phone Scam Attempts

August 2020: Two licensees have reported that a person called them purporting to be from TSBDE pressuring them about TSBDE investigations and requesting money. TSBDE will never pressure you for money over the phone. If you owe licensing or other fees to TSBDE, we have official channels to collect that money and will work with you if you have any questions.

These cybercriminals are putting your information at risk and trying to damage good customer relationships. That is why we are expanding our efforts to fight fraud and keep you safe and secure.

Please be advised that as a licensee of TSBDE, some of your practice information is published to the public. Be wary of this when someone claims to be from TSBDE. To see what information is available, you may visit: <https://tsbde.texas.gov/resources/public-license-search/>

If you are suspicious about an email or phone call that claims to be from the TSBDE office, follow these tips:

- Question whether the information should be requested via email or telephone.
- Be wary of links and attachments. Consider the context of the email, look for red flags such as poor grammar and/or sentence structure, and when in doubt, don't click.
- Use an email spam filter and up-to-date virus software and avoid public Wi-Fi.
- When suspicious, do not respond to the original email. Use independent sources to verify sender details and establish a new channel of communication to confirm with the sender.
